I feel that the proposed implementation to DoH will have a negative effect.
Specifically, it will make it difficult to block ads and trackers at the domain level.

Privacy-conscious users would be better served with an embedded DNS server that performed recursive lookups locally on behalf of the browser.

Cheers!
--Martin Veerman